RUSTIC ELEGANCE

Known for her re-imagination of luxury living, Jennifer Robin's designs blend traditional elements, modern lines and organic materials to create beautifully curated interiors full of warmth and elegance. Jennifer specializes in large-scale residential projects throughout the Wine Country, Lake Tahoe and the San Francisco Bay Area. Her designs carefully weave together each home's architectural elements, interior details and natural surroundings to create cohesive spaces that celebrate the very best of California's indoor-outdoor living. In everything from the materials she chooses to the way she carefully designs each space around its native environment, she blends rustic beauty with upscale luxury like no other. "I want people to walk into a home and notice the natural surroundings first, then slowly discover the surprises and thoughtfulness of the interiors," she says. "Maintaining a strong connection to the outdoors is important. At times, that means keeping the interiors quiet to let nature take center stage." Her latest projects include a rustic retreat in Tahoe, a wine country home in Calistoga, and a modern residential remodel in San Francisco. When asked about her dream project she tells us, "I'm working on them!"
